About the Leadership Academy Programme (LAP)

Programme overview
The Leadership Academy pilot scheme ran during 2014-15 and was established to improve the leadership skills of disabled people, run by Disability Rights UK as a ‘recognised centre’ of the Institute of Leadership and Management – ILM.

The aim of the Programme is “to empower capable, confident disabled leaders in all sectors of employment and address the need for greater equality in the workplace, to improve the employment position of employees living with a health condition or disability, whilst providing employers with access to a wider pool of talent.”

The programme is delivered online. It is comprised of four modules delivered over 13 sessions with a final presentation and graduation ceremony. Mentoring sessions take place between training sessions.

What are the benefits to the mentor?
Becoming a mentor is an incredibly rewarding thing to do. You can put the experience and skills you have developed in your professional life to use in a new and different way and be able to play a part in the career development of somebody who really needs your support. This process will test your relationship skills, your ability to understand and advise on remote situations and your technical skills as a manager.

LAP has seen senior executives dedicate their personal time and commitment to the Programme, some with lived experience of disability and some without. The ethos of LAP is to deal directly with the barriers and obstacles faced by employees with lived experience of disability, so having mentors and coaches with lived experience has proved to be extremely beneficial.

Become a mentor on LAP
New opportunities for mentors to join the programme are now available, to work with an individual while they go through the programme and as they apply what they have learnt to the workplace.

This will be from February to September 2022 and involves providing eight formal mentoring sessions throughout the duration of the programme. An extended period of three months is permitted for informal mentoring at the discretion of the Programme Manager and the mentoring pair.

Diane Dobinson and her mentor, Andy Horne

Developed with funding from Esmée Fairbairn Foundation. Recognised by the Institute of Leadership and Management (ILM).
However, we only make this a preferred requirement because we also recognise the impact of mentoring someone with lived experience and the learning benefits that are derived from this when the mentor does not have any lived experience of disability.

The wider message being that employers, employees and the team/departments for human resources/capital are learning more and challenging any unconscious bias or preconceived ideas about retention, potential career aspirations and their ability to develop their colleagues who have lived experience of disability and the benefits and growth that they can add to any company.

The main purpose of the role
To support and provide guidance to a junior manager who has either lived experience of disability or a long term health condition and wishes to gain career progression into a more senior role or explore new career aspirations.

Mentor’s time commitments
Availability to commit to one hour of mentoring between each of the module days. The module dates are just for your reference, to allow you to see what period you would be expected to mentor between and your delegates learning commitments.
